Pius the 12th Makes Peace the Keystone of His Pontificate

ALL MEN'S DESIRE Peace, "Gift of Heaven", Fruit of Charity and Justice

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy.—(P)—Pius the 12th opened his pontificate Friday with a strong appeal for peace and a special prayer for the troubled and difficult hours of the world which guide the destinies of nations. His appeal was broadcast to the entire Christian world less than 24 hours after his election to the throne of St. Peter, and shortly after he had set his coronation for Sunday, March 12. Speaking five minutes in Latin from the Sixtine chapel, he expressed the hope and appeal for "that peace, sublime gift of heaven, which is desired by all honest souls, and which is the fruit of charity and justice."

Currency Bill Is Flayed by Glass

U. S. Has Helped Make World Situation Worse, He Charges

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau's plea for an extension of the administration's board monetary powers encountered the opposition of Senator Glass (Dem., Va.) Thursday. A senate banking and currency committee voted to delay action until next week on a bill extending these powers after Glass had charged that the president's authority to lower the gold value of the dollar had disturbed business.

Morgenthau, accompanied by a dozen Treasury experts, had asked the senate group to extend until January 15, 1941, existing powers to devalue the dollar, to operate the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and to coin new silver mined in this country. The secretary said these powers were "a shock absorber" that protected this country from unstable world conditions.

This brought an explosive protest from Glass who was presiding at the hearing.

"I think the very fact you have this power has created the disturbance," Glass said.

Morgenthau hesitated and then quickly replied that he disagreed with Glass.

Glass then read a statement asserting there was no reason to continue the devaluation authority, and declaring that this was "the best opinion of 55 outstanding economists from the leading universities of this country."

"Then the gentleman picked up a thick stack of bills, waved them at Morgenthau and said:

"I've got here German marks that used to be worth $46,000 and they are not worth wiping your nose on now."

"I'm utterly opposed to giving the president or anybody else these powers," he stormed. "I'm opposed to letting congress or anyone else take us on this road of further degrading our currency."

The Virginian said he favored continuation of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, (created from the Treasury profit when the dollar was devalued in 1934) because "if we turned it into the Treasury it would be spent pretty soon."

L. C. Johnson Tells of Negotiation on Natural Gas Line

Hope Alderman Reveals Oklahoma Millionaire Is Backing Line

CEMENT MAN AIDS Proposed Rate Would Save Municipal Plant $6,000 a Year

The Louisiana-Nevada Transit company which is proposing to build a new pipe line from Cotton Valley, La., to Okay, Ark., serving the Okay Cement company and the City of Hope, is backed by W. A. Delaney, millionaire Oklahoma oil man, and has associated with it an executive of the Ideal Portland Cement company, with plants at Ada, Okla., and Okay, Ark.

Hope Rotary club was told Friday noon at Hotel Barlow by L. Carter Johnson, alderman who spent last week at a Federal Power Commission hearing in Washington, D. C., representing the City of Hope.

Mr. Delaney testified before the power commission in behalf of his petition for a permit to build the line that he was worth between 3 and 4 million dollars personally, that he would loan the Louisiana-Nevada Transit company the money necessary for the line, and that the company itself was a closed corporation owned by himself, General Manager R. O. Matthews of the cement company, and their families, Mr. Johnson reported.

O'Neal Accompanies Him

Mr. Johnson was accompanied to the national capital by N. P. O'Neal, owner of Hope Brick Works, another large gas consumer, and they were assisted at the Washington hearing by Congressman Wade Kitchens of Arkansas, Wright Patman of Texas, and Lyle H. Bowen of Oklahoma. Remaining at Washington is Chairman Thomas Flahugh of the Arkansas Department of Public Utilities.

The rate proposed by Louisiana-Nevada Transit company to the City of Hope, Mr. Johnson said, would reduce the municipally-owned Water & Light Plant's annual fuel bill from about $18,000 to $12,000, a saving of $6,000 a year—and would make a greater proportionate saving to the cement plant at Okay and to the brick works here.

The Hope plant, Mr. Johnson continued, used last year 125,822,000 cubic feet of gas in the municipal plant, an average of 10,485,160 monthly—but the consumption is increasing due to the expansion of the plant's lines through the rural territory surrounding Hope.

History of Gas

Mr. Johnson told the detailed story of natural gas fuel in Hope.

From 1921 the gas utility had a franchise here calling for a domestic rate of 4¢ per thousand cubic feet. With the expiration of the franchise the company increased the rate to 7¢ or 7½¢. Mr. Johnson continued, and the consumers and city governments of Hope, Prescott and other points along the line organized a long and costly battle. N. P. O'Neal and the late L. A. Foster were two members of the local committee authorized to fight the fight.

They hired Little Rock law firm and went before the Arkansas Railroad Commission, the rate authority of that day.

The result was a compromise offer of 5¢ less 3¢ discount for payment by the 10th of the month—which offer was accepted by the consumers, and which is the rate charged today by Arkansas Louisiana Gas company.

The Hope municipal plant, however, has a special rate negotiated by special contract, ending September 22, 1940. Mr. Johnson said, and it was disclosed at the Washington (D. C.) hearing last week that the municipal plant here pays a cheaper rate than either the Okay cement plant, using 10 times as much gas, or the local brick company, using one and a half times as much as the municipal plant.

Mr. Johnson was introduced on a program arranged by A. H. Washburn, Oliver Adams, Hempstead county farm agent, was introduced as a new member of Hope Rotary club.

Pays Junkman 20 Cents to Relieve Conscience

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—(P)—Fourteen years ago Julius Barron, former Nebraska City junk dealer, bought some old rags and papers from two boys.

The present owner of the business received a letter recently from California which said:

"A boy and myself in the year about 1925 sold you some old rags and papers in a sack. It amounted to about 20 cents. We placed a brick or so in the bottom of the sack to make it heavier."

Enclosed was 20 cents.

Pike County Man Beaten by Stepson

John Tasley, Murfreesboro, Critically Hurt—Boy, 16, Is Held

MURFREESBORO, Ark.—(P)—Sheriff W. E. Branch reported that John Tasley, 65, dairy community farmer, was critically injured early Friday when he was attacked with a stove-poker and axe.

The sheriff said he was holding Tasley's stepson, J. T. Williams, 15, without charge in connection with the attack. Branch said Williams confessed striking his stepfather first with a poker and then with an axe, following an altercation at their home.

County Group to Meet at Shover

Better Homes Tour of This County to Be Made On March 9

The second County Council meeting of Home Demonstration clubs will meet at Shover Springs with the Shover or Springs Home Demonstration club as host on Thursday, March 9 at 10 a. m. according to announcement by Miss Melva Bullington, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Wilbur D. Jones, county council president, will preside over the meeting. The morning program will consist of business of the council and special numbers. Other numbers will be by R. P. Bowen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who will talk on a possible farm market, and the County Agent Oliver L. Adams, who will talk on progress of the Rural Electrification program.

A picnic lunch will be spread at noon. In the afternoon the council will join the group making the Better Homes Tour. Homes that will be visited on the tour are as follows: The M. B. Contry home in the Green Laseer community. This is a moderate size home with complete modernization, costing $2,500.

The second will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stringer on East Third street—special features here will be the landscape program, floor finishes, finishes of the woodwork, wall finishes, and storage space. Other points of interest of the Stringer home will be the service yard and the poultry house.

The third stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal. This is a pretentious brick home on East Third street. Attention will be called to floor plan, wood finishes, storage and service rooms.

The fourth stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson on Greening street. Special points of interest at the Robinson home will be floor finishes, the pine panel wall finish, and floor plan.

The tour is open to everyone and the Urban Committee, composed of Mrs. L. D. Spradling, Roy Anderson, George Ware, and R. P. Bowen, welcome a large attendance. Other county-wide tours to better homes in the county will follow in April and May.

132 Still Aboard Beleaguered Ship

Two Steamers Standing by Are Unable to Get a Line Aboard

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia.—(Canadian Press)—A gale whipping heavy seas Friday foiled efforts to rescue 132 men aboard the leaking sailing ship Ranger 12 miles off the southeast coast of Newfoundland, radio reports said.

The steamships Newfoundland and Imogene were standing by, but battering waves prevented them from getting a line aboard the Ranger to tow her to the nearest land.

Radio ownership on the farm is 13 per cent less than in the city but the farmers use their sets relatively more.

Hope, Bright Star and Magnolia Are 1st Round Victors

Bobcats to Meet Texarkana in First Game Friday Night

4 GAMES SCHEDULED

Ashdown, Blevins and Murfreesboro Lose in Opening Games

Hope, Magnolia and Bright Star advanced in the opening round of the district 10 tournament here Thursday night.

Magnolia won over Blevins, 40 to 20. Bright Star advanced with a forfeit over Murfreesboro, 2 to 0, when the latter team failed to appear. A fourth game was scheduled, Village vs. De Queen, but neither team appeared.

Officials said the teams would probably meet later in the tournament.

The second session will be played Friday night. Four games are scheduled as follows:

Hope vs. Texarkana at 7 o'clock.
Magnolia vs. Kirby.
Bright Star vs. Walker's Creek.
Village vs. Patmos.

The semi-finals will be played Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and the finals at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Baker Leads Hope

Charles Ray Baker led the Bobcats with 14 points. Green scored 11 and Purdie 10 points. Hope played without the services of J. D. Jones, regular center, who has been ill.

The Magnolia-Blevins contest was bitterly fought. The game was tied three times and it was not until the final quarter that Magnolia pulled away with victory. The box scores:

Nye Warns U. S. Is In Danger of War

Assert Senate Should Resist Propaganda Entangling Nation

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The senate heard a warning Friday from Senator Nye, North Dakota Republican, that it must keep close check on developments in American foreign policy lest some propaganda campaign carry the nation to war.

Representative Collins, Missouri Democrat, told the house if reports of Germany's tremendous air power are true the United States' military and naval attaches abroad have been "asleep on the job" and should be eliminated.

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When a moving picture actor bursts into song, is it rude for a person in the audience to hum or sing the song, too?

2. When you are saving a seat for another person and someone starts to take it, should you say "This is taken" or "I am sorry, this is taken"?

3. If you take your place in a theater just as the curtain goes up, should you get settle down as quietly as possible and without any talk between you and your companion?

4. Is it important when you go out for a smoke between acts to get back in your seat before the curtain goes up?

5. In leaving a picture show should you wait until you are in the lobby before starting to talk?

What would you do if—
You are sitting in the aisle seat in a movie theater and there are several seats next to you—
(a) Move over and leave the seats on the aisle for the next people who come in?
(b) Stay where you are?

He said it would be a "fast unto death" unless the native ruler gave the people a "voice in government."

Legislature Can't Repeal Runoff Law

Move Against Amendment Unconstitutional, Says Attorney General

LITTLE ROCK.—A bill by Representative Pat Robinson of Lewisville to repeal the double primary section of Constitutional Amendment No. 6, would be unconstitutional if passed by the legislature since it attempts to substitute the voice of the General Assembly for the voice of the people," Attorney General Jack Holt held Thursday.

The opinion went to Representative Eli Lefler of Rogers who had inquired whether House Bill No. 621, introduced last Saturday, would be constitutional if it should be passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

"A constitutional amendment adopted by the people is not subject to change or modification by an act of the General Assembly even though the act should be passed by a unanimous vote of the members elected to each house," Mr. Holt declared.

"Amendments to our constitution can be changed or modified only by a vote of the people when the question is properly submitted to them."

"If the right to change or modify constitutional amendments was intended to be conferred on the General Assembly by Amendment No. 6, commonly known as the Initiative and Referendum Amendment, then would have the anomalous situation of the General Assembly being vested with authority to over-ride the voice of the people in the adoption of the organic law and with the power to strike down our constitution and amendments thereto at one fell swoop."

Senate Unwilling to Vote Tax Hike for Aged Pensions

Refuses to Give Pensions Three-Fifths of Proposed Levy

1-2 MILL TAX PLAN

Bill Repealing Export Liqueur Tax Is Sent to Governor

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The house late Friday completed legislative action on the senate bill to repeal the Abington welfare act of 1939 and providing revised procedure for the administration of the state welfare program, which had caused the federal Social Security Board to suspend federal matching of payments.

The repealer passed 77 to 1 without debate and went to Governor Bailey. It would re-enact the 1937 act except that the state board would be composed of nine instead of seven members.

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Led by Friserson of Jonesboro, the senate Friday refused to concur in the senate amendment which would have given old-age pensions three-fifths of a proposed half-mill increase in the state's ad valorem property tax.

The bill, as originally passed by the senate, would have made permanent a one-half mill levy authorized in 1931, but never put into effect to retire the Agricultural Credit Corporation bonds. The bonds are due to be retired within the next two years.

The senate bill would have divided the proceeds from the tax among a number of state-supported colleges.

The house passed 62 to 8 and sent to the senate an administration bill authorizing the Arkansas Corporation Commission to determine whether the state had any present or potential interest in the Dyess colony rehabilitation project in Mississippi county.

Export Tax Repealed

The senate bill to repeal the export liquor tax law, passed at the special session last March, was approved 77 to 6 and sent to the governor for signature.

The house passed two bills designed to limit the employment of special attorneys to handle state legal business.

One bill provided that special attorneys could receive not more than 25 per cent of the amount recovered, and that the fees must be paid by the delinquent taxpayers who were being sued.

The other bill was originally designed to eliminate all special attorneys, but amendments adopted by the house provided numerous exceptions.

One authorized the appointment of one additional assistant attorney general at $3,600 a year. The other measures calls for three new assistants at $3,600 each.

Hit Damage Suits

LITTLE ROCK.—Bitter denunciations of the "damage suit racket" in Arkansas and opposing cries of "corruption legislation" sounded loudly again in the Arkansas House chamber Thursday, as the representatives passed, 63 to 24, a bill by Bryson of Nevada to require that personal injury suits be tried in the counties in which the injury occurred or the injured resided at the time of the accident.

Proponents of the measure described it as "a companion bill to the workmen's compensation bill—designed to bring industry and capital into Arkansas."

Tackett of Pike, by a parliamentary maneuver, succeeded in holding the bill in the house, when sponsors attempted to have it transmitted immediately to the senate. He moved for reconsideration of the vote by which the emergency clause failed to pass, which will hold the bill in the house until three days before adjournment, unless reconsideration is actually sought.

After Bryson called up the bill, H. B. 174, debate was immediately limited to 15 minutes on the side.

"You all know what this bill is," he commented. "Its purpose is to stop the damage suit racket in which personal injury suits are moved from one county to another. This bill would prohibit damage suit lawyers from sending agents into your county when injuries happen there, and moving the cases into other counties."

"Every young lawyer in this house ought to be interested in this bill. Young lawyers now can't remain ethical under the present situation."

Compensation Up to Bailey

Apparently intent upon giving Governor Bailey a free hand to decide which if any of the workmen's compensation laws now before the legislature should be allowed to become law, the senate passed two conflicting bills Thursday and prepared to pass four additional measures on the same subject Friday.

Sunday School assemblies by departments at 9:45. The departmental devotionals is a proper preparation for an understanding of God's Word as it is taught in the classes.

Morning worship opens at 10:55 and closes by 12:05. The sermon will consider this question, "Why Be A Regular Church Goer?" There is a voice at the church service which is more eloquent when you are absent—the voice of the empty pew. This voice says that Christianity is not so very important after all, that a man can postpone things religious and be a gainer thereby, that heaven doesn't matter. People rob themselves of life's greatest blessings if they neglect the fellowship with God which church attendance affords. Will you come Sunday morning and fairly face this question for yourself? Will you give God a chance to show you his love?

Baptist Training Union meets at 6:30. It affords an opportunity of training in the church life.

At his evening worship the question for consideration will be: "What Think of Christ?" If you can bring a friend to church with you Sunday night, will you neglect to do so? Suppose Jesus should come Sunday night—where will he have to look for you? A cordial invitation is extended to the public to worship the Lord in these services.

Sunday School 9:45 a. m. Grady Hairston superintendent. We welcome you to our Sunday school. Every member of this church has pledged themselves to teach the Word; so let us not fail to keep this vow. We have a class for every one and a hearty welcome for all.

We are to have Dr. J. E. Cobb, secretary and treasurer of our mission work, with us for both services Sunday. He will preach at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Dr. Cobb is a great preacher and we invite you to hear him.

All classes of the B. Y. P. T. C. will meet at 6:45. Mrs. Purdie's class will have charge of the opening service.

Principal differences of the two measures is the Smith-Coleman bill would place administration of a state workmen's compensation law in the hands of the state Industrial Board and the Cummings-Arnett bill would make the circuit courts the administrative agency. Both bills provide for payment of benefits for injuries from a state fund supported by employers.

You will enjoy working with our young people. "Come and see."

80-Billion Income Is Sought by U.S. Government Now

That Amount Would Solve Many of New Deal's Problems

BUSINESS RECOVERY

Roosevelt Estimates Present National Income at 60 Billion

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Staff Writer
WASHINGTON—The heat is on to produce an 80-billion-dollar national income.

The New Deal is openly courting private business in the hope that this policy will encourage capital to go to work and yield that income.

The national annual income at the moment is estimated by President Roosevelt to be hovering around $60,000,000,000. In 1929 it was $1, in 1932 it was down to $40, and in 1937 up to $70.

An 80-billion-dollar income would solve many problems for the New Deal and the nation. It would yield enough taxes at the present rates to balance the budget. It would automatically employ much of the nation's idle money, producing new jobs and cutting the unemployed to a minimum. It would also demonstrate to the world that democracy works in the world's most powerful nation without the much-touted "efficiency" methods of dictatorship.

Harry Hopkins finds himself in the role of peacemaker and pacesetter because his department of commerce is the government's official meeting ground with business, and because he is generally accepted as closest of all New Dealers to President Roosevelt.

Two Schools To Consider
Hopkins recognizes two schools of thought on the subject of national income. The "confidence school" believes the government should put itself on record as promising not to harass business with mer taxes and onerous regulation. Men in this school argue that confidence will coax money out of hiding, and eventually produce an 80-billion income.

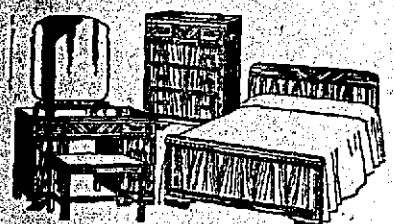

The "hardboiled school" on the other hand tells you investment money won't come out of hiding until the national income reaches the 80-billion mark, no matter how much confidence business receives from government. They insist that the income must be jacked up to the maximum by hook or crook before confidence can be restored.

Without disclosing his mind on the two schools, Hopkins has given his first attention to the confidence school. For that reason, you may expect

Other departments than Hopkins are interested in the peace drive. The whole push takes its keynotes from the President's annual address to Congress, where he suggested the New Deal's social reforms were completed, and the time had come for invigorating recovery.

But the one common denominator on the business front is Hopkins, because his department is naturally interested in all the elements of a business upswing—labor, industry, transportation, electric power, and so on.

The main difficulty of his position at the moment is the danger that other cabinet members and shining lights might become suspicious that Harry Hopkins is lending to everybody's business, or worse, that left wingers will suspect that he has deserted their cause, and gone over to the conservative camp.

The next hurdle might be the suspicions of business men themselves. Time will tell the story.

Terry Pleased As Coffman Signs Up

Joe Moore, Outfielder, Is the Only Unsigned Giant Player

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(P)—Relief Pitcher Dick Coffman came to terms Wednesday following Manager Bill Terry's ultimatum to "sign up or get out of camp."

This leaves only Outfielder Joe Moore to be dealt with and Terry believes Moore will take his contract with him to the Baton Rouge (La.) camp Sunday.

The "Giant's" boss is so impressed by the way the team is shaping up—especially his two doubtful pitchers, Hubbell and Schumacher—that he said: "All I want now is to go to Baton Rouge and find that Whitehead is all right. Then I'm ready to go."

Whitehead is a problem only because an operation kept him out all last year, but reports of his condition thus far are encouraging and Terry hasn't the slightest doubt of his ability to play second base.

"Hubbell and Schumacher told me they haven't felt a bit of pain in their arms," Terry said.

He had to give the "slow down" signal to Pitcher Melton, Vandenberg, Bumbert and Salvo after they began putting too much stuff on the ball. All the pitchers were allowed to let out a little in warming up.

After Wednesday's session, Terry and Zeke Bonura held a classroom session around first base. Referring to the big Italian, Terry said: "That guy's got the best disposition I ever saw. He wants to learn."

Bill is teaching Bonura to field ground balls with his feet apart, instead of close together, to take a firm stance while waiting for them and to reach on either side of the bag for throws. He quoted Zeke as saying: "No one ever told me any different, so I just went out there and tried to field them the best way I could."

No. 18—National League Founded

The National Professional Association of Baseball Players' control over the game was lax. Gambling and drinking were common abuses among the athletes. High-minded sportsmen began to fear for the game's future.

The meeting called by Hulbert, and held behind locked doors, Feb. 2, 1876, resulted in the formation of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, which survives in such robust health today. Hulbert was elected president. All concerned set out to rid the sport of its evils.

Peter Preaches to Gentiles
Text: Acts 10:30-48

Did Jesus come to the world with a message of salvation for all men, regardless of race, color, or nationality? This is the question that lies back of the question whether Christianity is a world religion. In our own day, nearly 2000 years after Jesus came to this earth, there are still many who would try to limit His salvation and His message.

Even among those who profess in theory to believe in Christianity as a world religion, and in Jesus as a Saviour of all, there are many who in actual practice seem to think of Christianity as a religion chiefly for white Americans or Anglo-Saxons.

Yet in the early history of the church itself, this issue was one of the first to be met and to be settled, so far as the records and the attitude of the most truly Christian were concerned. Paul had to meet it in opposition to Jewish converts, who thought of this new religion for themselves and not for the Gentiles.

Paul was outspoken in his championship of world-wide Christianity. He asserted most definitely that in Jesus Christ there was neither Jew nor Gentile, barbarian nor Scythian, bond nor free; but Christ was all, and in all. But even before Paul had to meet this issue as the first great, world-wide Christian missionary, Peter had had to face it in a more limited way. Peter was prepared to meet it then Paul, because Peter had had no such revolutionary religious experience in his life as had come to Paul. Peter had come into Christian discipleship with little to affect or break his Jewish associations, and he carried over into his Christian discipleship much of his Jewish outlook. It required a vision from the house-top, reminding him that what God had cleansed a man must not call unclean, for all men, regardless of race or color. Even with this vision behind him, he lapsed at times into his former prejudice.

Yet Peter had overcome much prejudice within the area of his own Jewish relationships. He was lodging in the home of one Simon, the tanner, Franz Delitzsch, in his "Jewish Artisan Life in the Time of Christ," tells us that tanning was one of the trades held in very low repute among the Jews because of the filth and smells associated with the trade. Peter was not a snob or he would hardly have been stopping at the tanner's home. But religious prejudices are the hardest to overcome—even harder than social prejudices—and Peter still had a very strong distinction in his mind between Jews and Gentiles.

It was under these circumstances that Cornelius, a Roman centurion who had come under the ministry of the Gospel and who was sent to Joppa in response to a vision, asked Peter to come and instruct him in the truth. Just what reply Peter might have made if it had not been for the vision on the housetop we do not know.

But Peter's vision prepared him for the request that came out of the vision of Cornelius. He perceived clearly that God is no respecter of persons, "but in every nation he that feareth Him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to Him."

The rest of the lesson tells of Peter's intercourse with Cornelius, but here is the great outstanding truth for us in his lesson . . . God is no respecter of persons.

Would God that men might understand it and practice it in all their ways and relationships of life!

Government figures indicate 61.2 per cent of the farmers in Oklahoma are tenant farmers.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday! Dick shows increasing interest in Susie, but she wonders if her financial success may have something to do with this. Meanwhile, Susie approaches her first broadcast.

CHAPTER XXIV

DICK escorted Susie to the broadcasting studio. He was attentive, encouraging, vastly excited. Brown orchids trembled on Susie's breast as she faced the microphone. Panic shook her. She couldn't say a word—sing a note—she couldn't. Suddenly her frantic eyes were drawn to the back rows of chairs in the studio. Jeff—His chin went up as he smiled.

At once Susie's panic look wings. At once everything was right with the world. And, at once, she forgot Jeff. Her song of love was for Dick, her nicely worded patter on the subject of beauty was for him. She knew her act had been successful before they crowded around her in the studio, before Mr. Jasper called from New York, before Edna and John Harker wired from Miami.

In a way, as the January days passed, Susie was content, in another way she frantically fought against time. Dick loved her, his every glance, every gesture, told her so. What then was the reserve against which she was powerless? Beyond a certain point he did not go and, totally unversed in siren wiles, Susie knew not how to break through his silence. In his presence she was confident, felt him trembling on the verge of an avowal. Away from him he escaped her. With every parting she had the frenzied feeling that she might never see him again.

It was a hectic interval, not conducive to happiness, although Susie would have said she was the happiest girl in the world. Her stomach, which already seemed shrunken to walnut proportions, suddenly refused food. She lost five pounds, was forced to use more rouge, felt stringy and burned out. Late hours, days of soaring hopes and black depression began to take their toll.

It was toward the last of January that Susie took a cold, a miserable, feverish cold. She managed to broadcast on Friday night and knew that something drastic must be done in preparation for Monday. Under Dick's sympathy she felt irritation and this added to her wretchedness. In swift pique she broke all engagements for the week-end and went to bed. Emma came with her gentle massage, which could be so murderous on occasion. She advised a strengthening diet, ordered Susie not to leave the bed until Monday.
